Companies joining PPL as initial founders are: Allegheny Energy, New Century Energies, Minnesota Power and Northern States Power. The exchange, to be called Enporion, is expected to be formed, staffed and operating as an independent entity by the fourth quarter of this year.

Both buyers and sellers will be able to save costs through the exchange by increasing efficiency, reducing redundancy and creating better information flow. The exchange will focus on materials and services for the electricity and natural gas industries.

"Taking a leadership role in the formation of this e-procurement exchange is just one more way that we are increasing competitiveness to ensure continued growth in earnings and shareowner value," said William F. Hecht, PPL chairman, president and chief executive officer.

PPL is forecasting earnings of between $2.80 and $2.90 per share for 2000, and between $3.10 and $3.20 per share in 2001. These forecasts follow record earnings in the first and second quarters of 2000, and record earnings in 1999.

"We are seeing improved performance on already strong earnings growth across all of our business lines," said Hecht. "Of particular importance is our ability to extract increasing value from our portfolio of about 10,000 megawatts of merchant generation by combining our skills as operators of low- cost power plants with the ability of our disciplined energy marketers and traders to capture value afforded by competitive energy markets. "

Based in Allentown, Pa., PPL Corp. is a FORTUNE 500® company that delivers electricity and natural gas to more than 1.3 million customers in Pennsylvania; markets wholesale or retail energy in 43 U.S. states and Canada; provides energy services for businesses in the Mid-Atlantic and Northeastern U.S.; generates electricity at power plants in Pennsylvania, Maine and Montana; delivers electricity to 1.4 million customers in southwest Britain; and delivers electricity to nearly 1.8 million customers in Chile, Bolivia, El Salvador and Brazil.
